Carbon Credits for Sustainable Climate Action

I. Objective

The primary objective of this consultancy is to assess the potential for carbon credits in Pakistan and develop strategies for their effective implementation to combat climate change and serve as a revenue stream for the government. It aims to do this through a consultative session that will generate discussion amongst key stakeholders on types of carbon credits, international and local success stories/case studies, carbon accounting and measurement, regulatory framework, and challenges and prospects for growth in Pakistan. The discussion will inform the development of a policy paper that will be presented to relevant stakeholders at a national conference in Islamabad during November 2023.

Deliverables

- Identifying and inviting potential participants (relevant stakeholders/ key experts) for the consultative session with CPDI's coordination
- Developing agenda for discussion in the half-day consultative session
- Moderating a half-day consultative session in Karachi based on the developed agenda
- Developing a policy paper based on literature review and the discussion held at the consultative session
- Presenting the policy paper at a national conference in Islamabad
